TEAM SILL

U.S. ARMY

Team Sill: Lauren Santoyo

Fort Sill is pleased to recognize the exceptional performance and dedication of Lauren Santoyo, Recreation Specialist with Fort Sill MWR. Lauren has consistently demonstrated initiative and a commitment to enhancing recreational opportunities for our community since joining the team in April 2024.

Notably, Lauren leveraged her expertise and passion for orienteering to create a volunteer-driven, free orienteering program for the community. The program launched two weeks ago with a highly successful inaugural class of 30 participants. This exemplifies her proactive approach and commitment to providing accessible, enriching experiences for Fort Sill families.

Lauren's dedication and innovative spirit are a tremendous asset to the MWR team. Please join me in congratulating her on her outstanding accomplishments.

Lord only knows what she will do with a Key to the City!

Youngest Warrior Award

U.S. ARMY

Celebrating a True Warrior: Tyler Heffner

- Embodies Determination and Resilience: Tyler, just 12 years old, took on a half marathon despite having a prosthetic leg not designed for running.
- From 5Ks to 13.1 Miles: After running two 5Ks at Fort Bragg, he chose to push himself further by attempting and finishing his first half marathon!
- Unwavering Perseverance: He finished the 13.1-mile Warrior Run at Fort Sill and captured the Overall Winner, First Place, Boys title.
- True Inspiration: Tyler's unstoppable spirit demonstrates that obstacles can be transformed into steppingstones.
- Bright Future Ahead: Receiving his run plaque today, Tyler plans to keep running as he awaits a new prosthetic leg specifically designed for this purpose.

Alcohol Awareness Month

April is Alcohol Awareness Month, and we are encouraging units and organizations to reach out and schedule educational classes. Our goal is to empower individuals with the knowledge and tools to make safer, healthier choices regarding alcohol consumption. By working together, we can help reduce alcohol-related incidents in our community and promote a safer environment for all.

Reminders

Follow the posted speed limit sign.

Stay off Tank Trail unless you are in a tactical vehicle.

Do not drink and drive.

Emergency Work orders should be placed through Corvias/DPW. Not Emergency Dispatch.

Geothermal Heat Pump Project

Corvias

HOW DOES A GEOTHERMAL AC WORK?

- Objective: To provide quality of life improvements for residents while providing a clear path to meeting renewable energy, zero emissions, and electrification goals established by the Army.
- Project Overview: Convert 1,342 homes to geothermal heat pumps and upgrade 365 that are currently geothermal along with replacement of water heaters and thermostats. This will be smart technology that can be monitored remotely for irregularities in the system.
- Estimated Start Date: April 2025
- Estimated Completion: 2028-2029
- Outside drilling will take a few days and inside work should be completed in one day per home.
- We may need command assistance to stay on track, similar to the RER Inspection, should an occupant deny entry into the home. Help us get the word out as this is a major upgrade for the soldier and Fort Sill.

UPGRADED SYSTEM=COOLER HOMES

ADDING UP TO 50% MORE WELL CAPACITY

Increasing the ground loop capacity is an effective way of expanding the heat exchange potential of the system while also increasing the efficiency. Additional fluid circulating in the ground loops allows it to reach the desired temperature in a more timely manner.

TWO-STAGE SYSTEM/LARGER UNIT CAPACITY

The upgraded units are able to run at two different speeds to match the demand for cooling in the home. The system will operate at a lower speed as cooling needs lessen, improving energy performance while maintaining the desired temperatures.

MANAGING HUMIDITY

Humidity plays a major role in how comfortable you are in your homes. During the summer, higher humidity means that it will feel warmer. The upgraded units we are installing will remove more humidity, thus improving your comfort in the home.

3 The ground below your home maintains a steady temperature of 55 degrees. As the heated fluid passes through the ground loop, it gives off heat to the relatively colder soil, rock, or ground water around it.

4 Once the fluid transfers its heat to the ground, the fluid returns at a lower temperature to the home, where it absorbs heat again. The process of transferring heat from the home to the ground is repeated until the desired temperature is reached.

SAF Volunteer Opportunities

Ways to Volunteer: Definitions of Experience Types

Event

A short-term service experience, usually a single day or shift, for registered volunteers that doesn't require the volunteer to make a long-term commitment.

- Short term opportunity (usually single day, shift or event)
- Support an isolated task, event or activity without making a long-term commitment or getting a position assignment.

Project

A volunteer experience where a registered volunteer is assigned a specific project assignment with a defined start/end date and defined outcome or deliverables.

- More than one day, assignment goes away once the project is complete
- Requires a supervisor and volunteer work plan

Position

A volunteer experience where a registered volunteer is assigned a specific position for a minimum length of commitment as defined in a position description.

- Evergreen position, meets ongoing service delivery or organizational needs
- Can be renewed after the original length of commitment is met

Stay active in the community while your service member is deployed!

- Great for Mental Health & Resiliency
- Meet people and build friendships
